HANK:

Past information on USIB is somewhat sketchy but from what I could hastily gather it looks something like this: USIB was developed sometime in 1958; it consolidated the IAC and USCIB; it was originally under the jurisdiction of the DDI, but was transferred to the O/DCI in June of 1962. I think if you would like additional information you might want to speak with Administratively USIB is attached to the O/DCI as an office in the same manner as the Historical and staffs. All the USIB personnel appear on the O/DCI T.O. and the funds for their salaries and other expenses are funded and included in the O/DCI budget. In addition, office space and other miscellaneous support is provided by the DCI Admin Office.

For your information, listed below are the names and grades of all USIB personnel which appear on the T.O.

In addition to the above we have also on detail to us from NSA and DIA the following personnel:

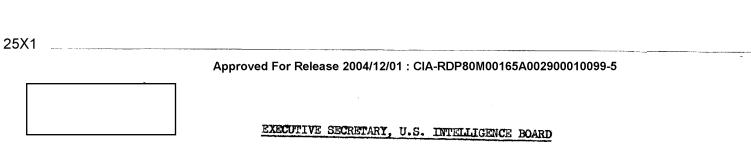

The salaries for the above personnel are borne by the parent service and are not reimbursed by CIA.

The Executive Secretary, United States Intelligence Board (USIB), is responsible for providing staff support to the USIB and to the Director of Central Intelligence as its Chairman in establishing policies and procedures to assure coordination of and provide guidance to foreign intelligence activities. Such staff support by the USIB Secretariat includes the review and processing of papers (other than national estimates) to USIB members for action or information, preparing the agenda and minutes of USIB meetings, and following up on agreed USIB actions to be taken by appropriate agencies; as well as advising, assisting and coordinating the work of the various subordinate committees of USIB.
